WHAT'S DOING

R. S. Pyle, your Telephone Manager in Torrance

Ever wonder how the Long Distance Operator takes down information when you place a call with her? She uses a special electrographic pencil to record the needed information on a printed card. With this method the operator can do it faster if you give her the information in this order: (1) Area code and number you're calling; (2) any special instructions; and (3), when she asks, your own number. This way it's possible to start your call right after step (1) and can save time in completing your operator handled calls.

Question: Is a telephone animal, vegetable or mineral? Answer: All three are contained in the materials from which telephones are made.

Today's high school science students have a wealth of interesting new things to learn about. For these future scientists, the Bell System has developed special teaching aids—kits of demonstration equipment, films and text by leading Bell Labs scientists. They bring to life subjects like wave behavior (shown here), magnetism and solar energy, and may be made available to high school science departments through your telephone business office.

The shortest distance between two friends is a telephone call.

Looks like this girl might be holding a pile of soft TV pillows. Actually, these are foamed-plastic shipping cases for delicate telephone parts. One carton weighs a mere 8 ounces, but it's rigid, moisture-proof, and strong enough to support a man's weight. Inside, it's specially molded so phone parts fit securely to protect them from shipping damage.
